

Abraham Trusts God

Genesis 15:5 · Seed · About ages 1–4

Abraham was old, and he had no children. He felt sad.

One night God said, Abraham, come outside. Look up!

Abraham looked up at the dark sky. Twinkle, twinkle, twinkle! So many stars, more than he could count.

God said, Can you count them? Your family will be big, big, big, like all those stars!

Abraham trusted God. And God kept his promise. Abraham and Sarah had a baby boy named Isaac. Then Isaac had children, and they had children, and on and on.

God knows every star by name, and God knows your name too. God loves you!

Parent prompt: Hold up your fingers and count stars together: one, two, three!

Pray together: Thank you, God, for the stars, and for always keeping your promises. Amen.

Talk about it

1. Can you count the stars with me?
